Data Management

User Authentication: To access the platform, individuals are required to create accounts with strong passwords, ensuring that only registered users can access them.

Role-Based Access Control: Distinct user roles, including regular users and administrators, will be implemented. Administrators will possess the authority to add, modify, and delete any content, while regular users will have restricted access and can only modify their own content.

Secure Data Storage: User account data, encompassing usernames and passwords, will be subject to secure storage practices to safeguard against data breaches.

Data Encryption: Industry-standard encryption protocols (e.g., HTTPS) will be employed to encrypt data during transmission between users and the website, preventing unauthorized interception.

Password Policies: Stringent password complexity criteria will be enforced to promote the creation of strong passwords. Additionally, passwords will be stored and protected.

User Data Access Controls: Users will have the capability to manage their data privacy settings and determine the visibility of information on their profiles.

Through the implementation of these security measures, Chapter Chatter wants to establish a secure and enjoyable space for book enthusiasts to engage in literary dialogues and contribute content.
